DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Because of the new grounds of rejection, this action is Non-Final.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 16 and 17 are objected to because of the following informalities: "Compressed," should be changed to, "compress," so as to make the tense of the sentence consistent. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

- 3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
  - The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 4. Claims 11-12, 16-17 and 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims refer to a percent compression of the circumferential J-hook retention member.

However, it is unclear what dimensional change the Applicant is claiming, e.g. circumference, radius, diameter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 6. Claims 2-5, 9-10, 15 and 21-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Higgins US 6,116,442.

The retaining elements are locking tabs (15) and the flexible web elements are webs (21). As seen in fig. 5, the first molded position (81) is substantially beneath and in alignment with the main portion of the tamper evident band. The crease line is located along the edge of (21) and (61) in fig. 4.

7. Claims 2-3, 6-10, 15, 20-23 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hayes US 4,657,153.

The retaining elements are the portions of tabs (10) disposed above hinge elements (13) and the flexible web elements are the horizontally hatched portions marked by element (10) in fig. 8. Because the circular band (3) is formed of plastic, it is inherently flexible, thus making the web elements flexible. The ventilation opening is intermediate slot (14) that is defined by the flexible web elements. Further, the retaining elements (13) are tapered toward a distal end, and the flexible web elements are inversely tapered with respect to the retaining elements.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 9. Claims 11-14, 16-19 and 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Higgins '442.

Higgins '442 discloses the claimed invention except for the percent compression of the circumferential band, and except for the divergence of the longitudinal axis from the longitudinal axis of the downwardly depending sidewall portion.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to optimize the compressibility of the circumferential band and the angular relationship of the flexible web element to the downwardly depending sidewall, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result-effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980). Examiner further notes these claim limitations are not given criticality in the Specification. The Applicant has not provided any evidence that these relationships and values would not have been obvious to one having ordinary skill.

Response to Arguments

- 10. Applicant's arguments, see pages 9 and 10, filed 19 February 2003, with respect to the rejection of claims 1 and 15-19 in view of 35 USC 112 1st and 2nd paragraphs have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of these has been withdrawn.
- 11. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5, 9-10 and 15 under 35 USC 102(b) and claims 6-8, 11-14, and 16-20 under 35 USC 103(a) have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
